McDonald's CEO took home more than $13 million last year, that's $6,250 per hour—but he's making sure you see hardly any of it.

McDonald's and other major corporations are spending millions top stop you from having a free choice at work and to try to stop you from bargaining for better wages and benefits.

How do you feel about working at McDonald's? Do you think it's fair that the CEO makes $13 million a year, while you earn far less?
